QTHA3  Quantum well lasers

AMNON YARIV, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, CA 91109.

The unique physical properties of QWs are caused by the 2-D confinement of the excited carriers. We describe how these properties are harnessed in a variety of configurations leading to ultralow threshold lasers, picosecond mode-locked lasers, widely tunable lasers, and tunneling injection lasers.